DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Group I (claims 1-6) in the reply filed on 3/21/2007 is acknowledged.
2. Claims 7-10 are cancelled.

Specification

3. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

The following title is suggested: A METHOD FOR REMOVING NON-CONDENSING GAS WITHIN HEAT PIPE.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-6, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Basiulis (U.S. 4,106,171).

As applied to claims 1 and 2, Basiulis teaches a method of making a heat pipe (heat pipe 10 including enclosure 12 and end cap 14, Figs. 1-3) by removing non-condensing gas, comprising: filling a predetermined amount of liquid working fluid into the heat pipe with an opening (16) on a top end thereof; heating the heat pipe to obtain the working fluid with a saturated temperature (boiling point); maintaining the saturated temperature to have the working fluid being evaporated and boiled, such that the non-condensing gas within the heat pipe is discharged by vapor of the working fluid; and sealing the opening when a predetermined amount of the vapor of the working fluid is discharged (col. 2, lines 38-48).

Note that the saturated temperature indicates a boiling point of the working fluid in order to evaporate it.

As applied to claim 3, Basiulis teaches that the size of the opening (16) is reduced (Fig. 3, col. 2, lines 34-37).

As applied to claims 4-6, Basiulis teaches that the working fluid is mildly evaporated (as the heat pipe is heated up to the saturation temperature of the working fluid), acceleratedly evaporated (as the heat pipe is heated to a temperature above the saturation temperature of the working fluid but below the melting point of the material of the heat pipe) and that the temperature kept around the opening is not less than the saturated temperature of the working fluid (claim 1, lines 16-26).

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Mochizuki et al. (U.S. 5694295) and Connors et al. (U.S. 2005/0082039) each teaches a method of manufacturing heat pipes wherein the end of a heat pipe is closed after filled with a working fluid.
